SKIN BLACK CANCER

- Screening for skin cancer once a year can save your life. Sounds dramatic right? Well sadly it's the truth. The causes of melanomas are relatively unknown, but studies suggest that brief, intense exposure to ultraviolet radiation contributes to its development, with the long wave radiation being more dangerous than the short wave. There also seems to be a link to genetic factors, as well as environmental and infection influences.

LASER SKIN REJUVENATION

- Does your face look aged and tired? Do you long for that youthful skin that you once modeled in your earlier years? As time goes on and your skin is exposed to the sunlight, it inevitably will look less plump and smooth. You will start to notice wrinkles, sunspots and a rubbery dryness that will make you look and feel prematurely aged. Sadly, even the most indulgent moisturizer won't cure or help at this stage, but with the recent advances in modern technology, it's not too late to regain some of your former beauty.

COOLSCULPTING

- When stubborn fat is being just that – STUBBORN – and no matter how much you diet and exercise, you can't get rid of it, then do not despair. It can be disheartening to say the least, but despite your continuing efforts being resisted, you still don't have to live with a body you are uncomfortable with, and you certainly don't have to resort to going under the knife.

NON-LASER SKIN RESURFACING

- The non-laser skin resurfacing is the newest advancement in technology, offering a non-invasive non-laser treatment that can remedy all types of skin difficulties, from ageing related problems to acne prone skin, hyperpigmentation and the improved appearance of brown spots. This hydradermabrasion procedure combines clearing the skin, through cleansing, exfoliation and extraction, with hydration and antioxidant protection, resulting in a detoxified, refreshed and beautiful complexion. There will be no more congested pores or dehydrated skin. The non-laser skin resurfacing treatment is committed to accomplishing a totally replenished and nourished appearance, from even the first treatment
